Set up publishing restrictions for an item

Version: 10.2

In the Content Editor, you can restrict the publication of items using publishing restrictions. Publishing restrictions let you specify that a specific item or a version of an item is publishable or unpublishable, either within a specific date range or indefinitely.

For example, you can create publishing restrictions on the items that are still being created, or finished items that you only want to publish when a certain campaign is rolled out. With publishing restrictions, you can easily manage when items are published, so that only the appropriate items are published.

Note

The publication restriction tool uses the Server Time Zone setting to support date and time. It is set by default to UTC.

Set up publishing restrictions for a single version of an item 🔗

1. In the Content Editor, navigate to the item or page that you want to set up publishing restrictions for. Make sure that you select the relevant language and version of the item.
2. To open the Publishing Settings dialog box, on the Publish tab, in the Restrictions group, click Change..:

In the Publishing Settings dialog box, on the Versions tab, the item versions in the current language are listed. By default, each version is publishable. If an item is not publishable, the item is not published, even if you publish the entire website.

Note

If an item is in a workflow, even if you have selected the Publishable check box in the Publishing Settings dialog box, the item isn't publishable until it reaches the final workflow state. We recommend that you only use the preview functionality on items that are publishable, as you'll see an error for items that aren't publishable.

- To make the specific item version publishable, select the Publishable check box. To make the item version not publishable, clear the Publishable check box.
- To specify a period for when the item version is publishable, select the Publishable check box, and then enter the dates and times in the Publishable From and Publishable To fields.

You can choose to specify only the start date, the end date, or leave all the fields

5. When you have finished setting up the publishing restrictions, click OK. In the Content Editor, a warning appears in the content area for the item informing you or other content editors that restrictions are set up for this item.

After you have set up the publishing restrictions for your items, you can preview your website to make sure that you have set up everything correctly. When you preview your website, you can see how every webpage will look on upcoming dates or in different languages.

Set up publishing restrictions for all versions of an item

To set up publishing restrictions for every version and every language of an item:

1. In the Content Editor, navigate to the item or page that you want to set up publishing restrictions for.
2. To open the Publishing Settings dialog box, on the Publish tab, in the Restrictions group, click Change.

3. In the Publishing Settings dialog box, click the Item tab.

- To specify all the item versions as publishable, select the Publishable check box.
- To specify all the item versions as not publishable, clear the Publishable check box.

 Note

If you clear the Publishable check box, this affects all the item versions listed on the Versions tab. This means that if you specify an item as not publishable, you cannot make a version of that item publishable. When you publish, the item and all its versions are removed from the target database.

4. To specify a period for when all the item versions are publishable, enter the dates and times in the Publishable From and the Publishable To fields.

You can choose to specify only the start date, the end date, or leave all the fields blank, in which case all the items are publishable from the current day until you change it.

 Important

If you specify a date range for when an item or item version is publishable, it does not mean that the item is published on the start date and removed again on the end date. Instead, it means that the item is available for publishing and included when you publish that item or the entire website. To make an item appear on your website on the start date and be removed again on the end date, you must run the Publish Item wizard on both days.

5. To restrict all the item versions to be published only to certain publishing targets, on the Targets tab, select the relevant publishing targets. This applies to all versions of the item in all languages.

If you select one or more publishing targets for the item, when you publish, the item is removed from the publishing targets that you do not select.

If you do not specify any publishing target for the item, the item can be published to any publishing target you choose in the Publish wizard.
